FOR TITLE AND SETTLEMENT PROFESSIONALS: National title consulting company pairs with electronic office management systems company in free webinar presentation

August 19, 2011 – Teresa Williams, CEO of Mid-Atlantic Title Consultants/National Title Consultants and Todd Hougaard, EVP of GreenFolders, announce a free webinar directed towards title and settlement professionals throughout the United States.

Attendees will have a choice of September 7th or 8th at 11:00 am EDT to attend this free webinar. The title of the webinar is "The Electronic Title Agent Office: An independent title consultant's view on why now is the time your office should become electronic, and how to do it." Panelists will focus on staff, underwriter, auditor and owner practices that produce satisfied customers. Common profitability and productivity roadblocks and solutions will also be presented, as well as specific steps for reducing business expenses.

"Electronic files are replacing paper files at an accelerating pace throughout the title and settlement industry" states Todd Hougaard, Executive VP of GreenFolders. He continues, "This change isn't about 'going paperless' as much as it is about running a smart and efficient agency. This webinar provides an opportunity for all agents to learn from professionals that work with agents every day on how and why the leading agencies are updating their operations to work without paper."

According to Teresa R. Williams, CEO of MATC and NTC, "In the midst of companies trying to keep expenses in check without losing site of the importance of educating staff and management, this webinar will allow attendees to learn from what we see every day in agent offices and learn from this information without leaving the convenience and comfort of their office."
